Some anniversaries you just don't want to miss. 80 years since the founding of the FEDERATION OF MODERN PAINTERS AND SCULPTORS is one of them. But sometimes the world intervenes, as it did this past year. One year later, we want to give that milestone a nod, for we need to tip the hat to a group of artists who first came together over issues of artistic freedom and have kept with that tradition ever since. From time to time the Federation organizes a thematic exhibition. The Federation has done exhibitions around music and poetry, but the sheer act of artists coming together, after such a year of isolation, is one that provides its own theme.

Unified style, subject matter, or medium: each can be its own tyranny. Diversity and inclusion are the key words of our time and of the Federation. In the group, there are a wide range of approaches, a wide range of subject matter and yet a harmony. The Federation artists celebrate the noise of the city as seen by our street painters and by the reflections of our more abstract painters; figure painters and sculptors bring us face to face with the diversity of humanity, while landscape paintings allow a stepping away from the intensity of the city.

We celebrate the surprising interconnections to be found when individual artists choose to come together and present their work together.

Congratulations Federation of Modern Painters and Sculptors!
