Few things in life are as simple as right or wrong, yes or no, true or false, black or white. Our member artists constantly deal with these subtle distinctions in their work, whether in realist subject matter or in their abstract use of color, mass and line. This exhibition features works that do just that in Shades of Black and White.

In this exhibition you will experience some works that use only combinations of black and white pigments while others may refer to Shades of Black and White in their subject matter but not in the colors of the pigments used.

Enjoy the work of Prince Street Gallery artists and the myriad ways in which they interpret the Shades of Black and White.

This exhibition may be viewed online at www.princestreetgallery.com and www.artsy.net from March 1 through March 31, 2021
