Sara Fletcher, Paintings

Preparations

October 1 – October 26, 2019. Reception October 3, 5-8 pm. Artist talk October 5, 3pm.

Artist will be present at the gallery Saturday October 5, 11 am - 6 pm.

Sara Fletcher will present her first exhibit, Preparations, at Prince Street Gallery, with an opening reception on October 3, 2019. Fletcher's recent works depict people helping to prepare one another for life changes. She connects moments in time with different kinds of light weaving together memories and observed surroundings. Fletcher's paintings embrace mystery. She aims for natural appearances of space, light, and figure, while at the same time touching on how imagination of the heart and mind influences the way the world looks.
