

PRESS RELEASE

FRACTURE

FEBRUARY 8, 2024

Prince Street Gallery is pleased to present FRACTURE, a gallery group exhibition. The show runs from Tuesday, February 27th through Saturday, March 23rd. An opening reception will be held on Thursday, February 29th from 6 - 8pm.

The theme of FRACTURE was selected by gallery artist curators Flavia Bacarella and Gina Werfel. Participating artists found visual metaphors to express a breaking apart or disconnected condition, ranging from the personal, to reflections on nature, on art, and on the fractured state of the United States and the world at large. Artists were asked to write a short statement about how their work suggests this theme.

A selection of the responses are quoted below:

- Over time, even the strongest of things can come apart. Rock can fracture when stress exceeds the rock strength. A metaphor for our moment.
- "Human disconnect," a certain kind of isolation, a life shattered, navigating grief.
- Fear, greed, selfishness are forces that fracture society. Is it the role of artists to mirror society as it is, or find a better way? Can our work lead us to optimism?

The exhibition includes a number of genres, including drawings, prints, paintings, collage and multimedia artworks.
